

Doctoral Prize Fellow

Job Ref: REQ220840

About the Fellowships

These prestigious Fellowships offer opportunities for outstanding, recently completed doctoral students to receive 24 months of tailored support to begin to develop their independent research careers. Based at Loughborough University (in the Midlands and London), Fellows will be allocated an appropriate academic mentor to support and guide them. Fellows undertake work derived from their own research questions and ideas, which provide the foundation for an externally-funded Fellowship application to be made during the course of the Doctoral Prize Fellowship. Externally-funded Fellowships will be based at Loughborough University, and commence as soon as is practicable after award. On securing an appropriate externally-funded Fellowship, an open-ended academic contract will be offered.

Eighteen months into the Doctoral Prize Fellowship, it is possible to agree a 6 months' extension to the Fellowship, taking its total duration to 30 months. This is contingent on a high quality Fellowship application having been made to an agreed scheme aimed at postdoctoral or early career researchers (including but not limited to those offered by UKRI, Leverhulme Trust, Royal Academy of Engineering, or the British Academy). During the extension period, Fellows balance their research activity with teaching activities, following appropriate training, in order to develop their academic profile.

Eligibility

Candidates should be within 3 years of the date of their PhD award on the application closing date. We will extend this eligibility period by the duration of any career break taken since the PhD award and ask applicants to confirm this with us in advance. Part-time working is welcome, at a minimal level of 50% full time equivalent (FTE). In these circumstances, it will be possible to extend the duration of the Fellowship on a pro rata basis, but the further six month extension will be fixed.

Candidates must have had their PhD (or other doctoral qualification) awarded by the closing date for applications. This means any corrections following the viva examination must have been completed to the examiners' satisfaction and the PhD (or other doctoral qualification) awarded (with written confirmation) by 1 September 2022.

The Fellowships are open to applicants from any institution (including but not limited to Loughborough University). International applicants are welcome. Up to 10 positions are available. In light of the ongoing war in Ukraine we will prioritise a Doctoral Prize Fellowship for a Ukrainian candidate, please make it clear in the application if you are from Ukraine.

We have a number of Fellowships ring-fenced for Fellows whose PhD was funded by EPSRC. If this is the case, please make this clear in your application.

Doctoral Prize Fellows whose research aligns with the net zero agenda will have the opportunity to be affiliated with the Centre for Postdoctoral Development in Infrastructure, Cities, and Energy (C-DICE). This will include bespoke training and development opportunities as well as other benefits including access to industry/other HEI partners through the C-DICE network, and the chance to disseminate net-zero related research via C-DICE Impact Hub. C-DICE will offer affiliation to appointed Fellows based upon the alignment of their research to the C-DICE research areas.
