

Job Ref: REQ240887

As part of the University's ongoing commitment to redeployment, please note that this vacancy may be withdrawn at any stage of the recruitment process if a suitable redeployee is identified.

We are establishing Loughborough Law and wish to appoint a Head of Law within the School of Social Sciences and Humanities (SSH). In this role, you will provide leadership in developing and implementing the School and University's plans and operations, working closely with the Dean and being an integral part of the School Leadership Team.

You will be responsible for implementing School plans at the Department level and will have significant responsibility for staff line management, including workload management and all aspects of staff development.

Your collaboration with the Associate Deans (Education & Student Experience and Research & Innovation) and key staff across the University will be crucial in implementing the School's Research & Innovation, and Education & Student Experience strategies in the Department. It is expected that the successful candidate will be appointed as a Professor and, accordingly, will be able to demonstrate a substantial track record of high-quality teaching and research, and a sustained and continuing record of excellence which has contributed to the furtherance of knowledge in the discipline and is recognised in a well-established and high-profile international reputation. Evidence of significant academic leadership and a PhD or equivalent research experience are also essential.
